Elizabeth Eason Architecture recognized for alternative commuting benefits

Elizabeth Eason Architecture is proud to announce that the firm has earned the designation of Best Workplaces for Commuters.

This is a voluntary partnership program created by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the U.S. Department of Transportation designed to cut traffic congestion and traffic related air-pollution. The program recognizes employers who provide benefits that help their employees pursue environmentally friendly commuting strategies.

As part of the company's comprehensive commuter benefits program, Elizabeth Eason Architecture offers parking buyouts and convenient bike racks. "We are proud to make this commitment to our employees and to the environment," said Elizabeth Eason. "Our firm includes sustainable design in all our architectural projects. The Best Workplaces for Commuters program is one of many ways that we make our office and the business itself more sustainable."

Elizabeth Eason Architecture is only the fourth business in the State of Tennessee to earn the Best Workplaces for Commuters designation. The company would like to challenge other employers in Knoxville to join this program. "We must all do our part to reduce our demand on fossil fuels and to improve the region's air quality," said employee Monika Miller who commutes by bike every day. "It's great to have your employer support your efforts to do what is right for the environment."
